Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to express my interest in opportunities within your organization where I can contribute my experience in customer service, operations, technical support, and growing software development skills.

I bring 11 years of professional experience across customer service, technical support, quality assurance, team leadership, and management. Throughout my career, I have managed teams, developed SOPs, monitored KPIs, improved operational workflows, coached employees, handled escalations, and worked closely with technical teams to resolve customer and system-related issues.

Alongside my operations background, I have been developing my skills in Python backend development and process automation. My current technical experience includes Python, FastAPI, SQLite, SQL, Pydantic, REST APIs, Git, and GitHub. I recently completed Cig Trak V2, a backend project where I built a REST API with CRUD operations, database persistence, data validation, exception handling, and a layered architecture separating business logic from data access.

What I hope to bring to a technical role is not only my programming foundation, but also years of experience understanding how businesses operate and how real-world problems affect customers and teams.

I am particularly interested in opportunities where I can continue developing technically while using my background in problem-solving, operations, leadership, and customer experience to contribute from day one.

Thank you for considering my application. I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my experience and technical skills could contribute to your team.

Sincerely,

Xavier Grant "Aya" M. Rosales
